II.

Plaintiffs invoke federal jurisdiction and venue on the following grounds:

Subject matter jurisdiction exists under 28 U.S.C. section 1331 because the First Amended Complaint asserts claims arising under the Fair Labor Standards Act (29 U.S.C. §§ 201, et seq.) and the Family & Medical Leave Act (29 U.S.C. §§ 2601, et seq.) The Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining state

1 claims under the doctrine of pendant jurisdiction, and, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. section
2 1367, the Court may exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining state 3 law causes of action because they arise from a common nucleus of operative facts 4 from which the federal causes of action arise.

5 Venue in this District is proper under 28 U.S.C. section 1391(b) because (1) a 6 substantial part of the alleged conduct by Defendants asserted in the First Amended 7 Complaint occurred in Imperial and San Diego Counties, (2) at all times relevant to 8 the matters alleged in the First Amended Complaint, Defendants conducted and 9 continue to conduct substantial business in Imperial and San Diego Counties, (3) a 10 substantial part of the transactions alleged in the First Amended Complaint took 11 place in Imperial and San Diego Counties, and (4) to the extent Defendants 12 committed the unlawful or wrongful acts alleged in the First Amended Complaint, 13 Defendants' liability arose in substantial part in Imperial and San Diego Counties.

14 No dispute exists as to subject matter or personal jurisdiction or venue.

4. Victor Manuel Delgado
5. Jorge Luis Sandoval Lopez
6. Roberto Ramirez
7. Jesus Alberto Zendejas
8. Martin Alanso Chavez Aguilar
9. Antonio Ramos Flores
10. Jorge Valdez

Defendants reserve their right to change the order of witnesses as necessary to accommodate the Court's and witnesses' schedules. Defendants further reserve their right to present evidence by way of deposition testimony, as identified in Defendants' Deposition Designations, filed on March 15, 2010.

Plaintiffs' Objections to Defendants' Live Witness Designations Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a)(3)(B)

Plaintiffs hereby object to Defendants' Witness List Disclosure Pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3)(A)(i), filed on March 15, 2010.<sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs object to the inclusion of Sabrina Nelson, Stacey Yamamoto, and Trudy Aguilar on the grounds that as former employees of Defendants, Defendants had knowledge of these individuals, their duties and responsibilities in their employment with Defendants, and their knowledge of the facts asserted in Plaintiffs' complaint or information pertaining to such facts, prior to the date on which Defendants provided their initial disclosures in this case on September 17, 2008. Notwithstanding this knowledge, Defendants failed to identify the witnesses or to file a supplemental disclosure until March 15, 2010, long after discovery in this case had closed, and thereby deprived Plaintiffs the opportunity to depose these witnesses or to otherwise propound discovery relating to their scope of knowledge.

<sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs also separately file their Objections to Defendants' Witness List Disclosure Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(A)(3)(iii), concurrently herewith.

1 Plaintiffs therefore object to Defendants' identification of these individuals as 2 witnesses and request that the Court preclude Defendants from calling any of them
3 as witnesses at trial pursuant to Rule 37(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
4 Defendants' Objections to Plaintiffs' Live Witness Designations Pursuant to 5 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(a)(3)(B)

6 1. Defendants hereby object to any testimony from any witness regarding 7 any purported claims that arose during the time period any plaintiff was employed 8 at either GEI or BSG in any position other than as an installer, garage door installer, 9 baseboard installer, lead, or foreman ("Field Installer"). In particular, Defendants 10 object to any testimony from plaintiff Erick Gallo ("Gallo") or any other witness 11 regarding any purported claims that arose while Gallo was a warehouse employee.

12 The First Amended Complaint ("FAC") specifically defines the scope of this 13 lawsuit to include only claims that allegedly arose during the time the plaintiffs 14 were employed as Field Installers. Paragraph 38 of the FAC states that "[p]laintiffs 15 bring this action on behalf of themselves and other employees similarly situated . . .
16 ." (Emphasis added). Plaintiffs define those employees "similarly situated" as 17 "[p]laintiffs and all other persons who are or who have been employed by 18 Defendants, or any of them, as Installers, Garage Door Installers, Baseboard 19 Installers, Leads, [sic] Foreman . . . ." While the plaintiffs chose not to file a 20 motion to certify any class, that does not change the scope of their claims, as 21 defined by the FAC. Any purported claims by any plaintiff that may have arisen 22 when he was employed in any position other than a Field Installer are thus outside 23 the scope of this action, and any testimony regarding such claims is irrelevant and 24 should be excluded.

25 2. Defendants also object to and intend to move to exclude Jonathan B.
26 Atun of LECG, 655 West Broadway, Suite 1300, San Diego, CA, as a witness in 27 this action on the grounds that (1) he is an improperly designated expert and cannot 28

1 testify as a lay witness, and (2) Mr. Atun is conflicted out of testifying on behalf of 2 the plaintiffs.

3 Mr. Atun is not an employee of, nor related in any way, to Defendants, and 4 he could only present expert testimony at trial. At the pre-trial meeting of counsel 5 on March 18, 2010, Plaintiffs' counsel admitted that Mr. Atun was not related to 6 Defendants and never worked for Defendants. Plaintiffs' counsel also conceded 7 that, pursuant to the Court's Order Granting Joint Motion for Continuance of 8 Pretrial Case Management Dates, entered on September 1, 2009 ("Scheduling 9 Order") (and the subsequent Order Granting Defendants' Request for Leave to 10 Conduct Additional Depositions Beyond the 10-Deposition Limit, entered on 11 November 3, 2009), the deadline for the disclosure of experts and for expert 12 discovery has long past.

13 At the pre-trial meeting of counsel, Plaintiffs' counsel stated that Mr. Atun 14 would not be testifying as an "expert" but testifying regarding "mathematical 15 calculations." Mr. Atun, however, cannot provide such lay opinion testimony at 16 trial. A witness may testify regarding his or her damages calculations provided the 17 calculations are either: 1) expert testimony under Federal Rule of Evidence 702, 18 see, e.g., Integra Lifesciences, Ltd. v. Merch KGaA, 2004 U.S. Dist Lexis 20725
19 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 7, 2004); Hewlett Packard Co. v. Mustik Systems, 2001 U.S. Dist.
20 Lexis 26331 (S.D. Cal. June 8, 2001), or 2) proper lay opinion under Federal Rule
21 of Evidence 701. See EEOC v. Lemar Homes of Ariz., Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist. Lexis
22 42865 (D. Ariz. June 23, 2006). Under Federal Rule of Evidence 701, lay 23 witnesses may offer opinion testimony provided that the testimony is: 1) based on 24 their own perception; 2) rational; and 3) helpful to the finder of fact. Fed. R. Evid.
25 701.

26 Here, Mr. Atun's testimony should be excluded because it is not based upon 27 his own perception. The testimony could only be based upon his own perception if 28

1 he had first had knowledge or observed the underlying data. See Lemar Homes of 2 Ariz., Inc., 2006 U.S. Dist Lexis 42865 at *10-11 (excluding testimony of paralegal 3 under Federal Rule of Evidence 701, who would only be testifying about her 4 application mathematical, accounting and interest principles to calculate claimant's 5 damages); LifeWise Master Funding v. Telebank, 374 F.3d 917, 930 (10th Cir.
6 2004) (excluding CEO's testimony regarding damages because it was not limited to 7 matters rationally based upon his own observation, but instead "enter[ed] into the 8 realm of rolling averages, S-curves, and compound growth rates that appear to be 9 an amalgam of logic, hope, and economic jargon"). Mr. Atun did not work for 10 either Defendant (as Plaintiffs conceded) and does not have any first hand 11 knowledge of any data about which he will be testifying. Any such testimony 12 regarding "mathematical calculations" regarding this data -- or any other testimony 13 by Mr. Atun -- thus should be excluded.

14 Mr. Atun also should be excluded from testifying because his company, 15 LECG, has received confidential information about this case from Defendants' 16 counsel. Arthur F. Silbergeld, lead counsel for Defendants, met several times with 17 Kirk Koenig and his colleagues from LECG's office in Los Angeles and discussed 18 Defendants' view of the facts in this case, in anticipation of potentially hiring Mr.
19 Koenig as an expert witness in this action. When Plaintiffs did not designate any 20 expert witnesses, Defendants did not hire Mr. Koenig to testify as an expert.
21 However, that does not change the fact that Mr. Atun's company, LECG, received 22 confidential information from Defendants' counsel and that Mr. Atun should be 23 excluded from testifying as a result.

24 Plaintiffs' Objections to Defendants' Deposition Designations Pursuant to Federal 25 Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3)(B)

26 Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3)(B) of the Federal Rules 27 of Civil Procedure, Plaintiffs object to the designation of deposition testimony for use at trial by Defendants Guy Evans, Inc. and Builder Services Group, Inc. on March 15, 2010. Plaintiffs also counter-designate relevant sections of the deposition transcripts as indicated in Plaintiffs' Objections to Defendants' Deposition Designations Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(A)(3)(ii); Plaintiffs' Counter-Designation of Deposition Testimony, filed concurrently herewith.

Plaintiffs object to all designated testimony on the grounds that such testimony qualifies as inadmissible hearsay under Rule 801 of the Federal Rules of Evidence. Plaintiffs further object on the grounds that Defendants have made and can make no showing that the witness whose testimony Defendants have designated are unavailable to testify at trial and, therefore, cannot identified offer such deposition testimony in lieu of live testimony under Rule 32 of the Federal Rule of Civil Procedure.. Plaintiffs further specifically object and counter-designate as follows:

Defendants' Objections to Plaintiffs' Deposition Designations Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3)(B)

Defendants hereby assert their objections to the Deposition Designations made in Plaintiffs' Pre-Trial Disclosures, filed on March 15, 2010 ("Original Deposition Designations").

The Plaintiffs designated four witnesses whose testimony they intend to present by deposition: Cynthia Arce, Jana Corbeil, Randall ("Randy") Nelson, and Ruben Holquin. Pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 26(a)(3)(B) and 32(a)(3) and (a)(4), Defendants object to the plaintiffs' presentation of any direct or rebuttal testimony of Ruben Holquin by deposition. Mr. Holquin, at all relevant times, was not and is not a "party's officer, director, managing agent, or designee under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4)" (as required under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 32(a)(3)), nor can the plaintiffs show that Mr. Holquin is "unavailable" under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 32(a)(4). Defendants also object to the plaintiffs presenting any testimony of Mr. Nelson by deposition pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 32(a)(3), since Mr. Nelson also, at all relevant times, was not and is not a "party's officer, director, managing agent, or designee under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4)."

The plaintiffs did not provide specific cites to any deposition testimony in their Original Deposition Designations, so Defendants are not able to assert any objections pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 32(a)(6) and (b) to those Designations. The parties stipulated that the plaintiffs may designate specific testimony by March 22, 2010 in their Amended Pre-Trial Disclosures (which they did) and that Defendants may object to the those specific designations by April 5, 2010. That stipulation is awaiting approval by the Court. If the Court does not approve that stipulation, Defendants request that the Court preclude the plaintiffs from presenting any testimony by deposition, since the testimony was not properly designated by the deadline for the parties to file their Pre-Trial Disclosures -- March 15, 2010 -- and Defendants thus were not provided sufficient time to object and counter-designate rebuttal testimony to the plaintiffs' specific designations, as allowed under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

IX.

Plaintiffs and Defendants have stipulated to the following legal issues:

1. Wage Order No. 16 governed Plaintiffs' employment at all relevant times.
2. Defendant GEI qualified as Plaintiffs' employer under the FLSA for the period of time during which they worked for GEI.
3. Defendant BSG qualified as Plaintiffs' employer under the FLSA for the period of time during which they worked for Defendant BSG.
4. California law required Defendants to pay Plaintiffs at the applicable overtime rate for any hours Plaintiffs purportedly worked that exceeded eight hours in one day or forty hours in one week.
5. The FLSA required Defendants to pay Plaintiffs at the applicable overtime rate for any hours Plaintiffs purportedly worked that exceeded forty hours in one week.
6. The applicable reimbursement rate for mileage that required reimbursement during Plaintiffs' employment (assuming any such mileage existed) was the IRS reimbursement rate in effect at the time the mileage costs were purportedly incurred by Plaintiffs.

The following issues of law, and no others, remain to be litigated upon the trial:

Plaintiffs' Issues of Law, all of which are disputed by Defendants:

1. Does the FLSA or California law require Defendants to pay Plaintiffs for any time for which they did not pay Plaintiffs and that qualifies as

1 compensable time under the FLSA or California law? Plaintiffs 2 contend that both the FLSA and California law required Defendants to 3 pay Plaintiffs all time for which they did not pay Plaintiffs and that 4 qualified as compensable time under the applicable law.

5 2. Does a failure to pay an employee any amount for compensable time
6 worked violate California's minimum wage laws? Plaintiffs contend 7 that a failure to pay an employee any amount for compensable time 8 worked violates California's minimum wage laws.

9 3. If a Plaintiff spent time before the start of the paid workday unloading 10 or moving materials to the worksite, transporting tools to a worksite, or 11 setting up tools at a worksite, does such time qualify as compensable 12 under the FLSA or California Law? Plaintiffs contend that such time 13 qualifies as compensable under both the FLSA and California Law.

14 4. If a Plaintiff spent time after the end of the paid workday loading or 15 moving materials at the worksite, transporting tools from a worksite, or 16 cleaning and removing debris from the worksite, does such time 17 qualify as compensable under the FLSA or California Law? Plaintiffs 18 contend that such time qualifies as compensable under both the FLSA 19 and California Law.

20 5. If an employer requires non-exempt employees to attend a meeting at 21 which managers discuss workplace safety issues and other work 22 matters, does the time a non-exempt employee spends at such a 23 meeting qualify as compensable time under the FLSA or California 24 Law? Plaintiffs contend that the time a non-exempt employee spends 25 at a mandatory meeting relating to work matters qualifies as 26 compensable time under the FLSA and California Law.

27 6. If a non-exempt employee who has no fixed work location travels to a 28

1 work location outside the area in which he ordinarily works, does the 2 FLSA or California law require the employer to compensate the 3 employee for the time spent commuting to a job location that exceeds 4 his normal commute time? Plaintiffs contend that the FLSA and 5 California law require an employer to compensate a non-exempt
6 employee for time spent commuting in excess of the employee's 7 commute time to and from job locations within the employee's general 8 work area.

- 9 7. If the FLSA or California law requires an employer to compensate a 10 non-exempt employee who has no fixed work location for time spent 11 travelling to a work location outside the area in which he ordinarily 12 works, what amount of time qualifies as compensable? Plaintiffs 13 contend that the employer must compensate the employee for the 14 travel time less the amount of time the employee ordinarily spends 15 commuting to and from work locations within his normal work area.
- 16 8. If a Defendant required a Plaintiff to first report to its facility before 17 travelling to the first worksite, did the FLSA or California law require 18 the Defendant to pay the Plaintiff for the time spent commuting to the 19 first work location to which the Plaintiff travelled from the facility?
20 Plaintiffs contend that both the FLSA and California law required 21 payment for this commute time from the El Centro facility to the first 22 worksite.
- 23 9. If a Defendant required a Plaintiff to return to its facility after the end 24 of the paid workday, did the FLSA or California law require the 25 Defendant to pay the Plaintiff for the time spent commuting from the 26 last work location to the facility? Plaintiffs contend that both the 27 FLSA and California law required payment for this commute time 28

1 from the worksite to the El Centro facility.

- 2 10. Does the FLSA or California law require an employer to pay a non-3 exempt employee for time spent driving between job sites during the 4 workday? Plaintiffs contend that both the FLSA and California law 5 require an employer to pay for such time.
- 6 11. In terminating and paying wages to employees at the time of 7 acquisition by BSG, did GEI violate California law in calculating for 8 or paying accrued vacation to any Plaintiff? Plaintiffs contend that 9 GEI's application of its vacation policy to deny accrual of and payment 10 for vacation to any Plaintiff who had worked for GEI for less than one 11 year as of the termination date violated California law.
- 12 12. Did BSG violate California law in calculating for or paying accrued 13 vacation to any Plaintiff? Plaintiffs contend that BSG's application of 14 its vacation policy to deny accrual of and payment for vacation to any 15 Plaintiff whose employment ended before completing one year of 16 employment with BSG violated California law.
- 17 13. If an employer requires a non-exempt employee to report to work and 18 thereafter fails to provide the employee any work that day does 19 California law require the employer to pay that employee reporting
20 time pay equal to four hours of pay? Plaintiffs contend that California 21 law requires the employer to pay a non-exempt employee reporting 22 time pay equal to four hours of pay in such situations unless the 23 employer did not provide work for any of the following reasons: (1) 24 the employer's operations could not commence or continue due to 25 threats to employees or property or because recommended by civil 26 authorities; (2) the public utilities failed to supply electricity, water, or 27 gas, or there was a failure in the public utilities, or sewer system; or (3) 28

1 the interruption of work was caused by an Act of God or other cause 2 not within the employer's control.

3 14. If an employer requires a non-exempt employee to attend a meeting on 4 a day on which that employee was not scheduled to work does
5 California law require the employer to pay that employee reporting 6 time pay equal to four hours of pay for attending the meeting?

7 Plaintiffs contend that in such situations California law requires the 8 employer to pay the employee reporting time pay equal to four hours 9 of pay for attending the meeting.

10 15. Did any project on which a Plaintiff worked during the course of his 11 employment with either Defendant require payment of prevailing 12 wage? Plaintiffs contend that they worked on a number of projects 13 subject to federal or California law prevailing wage requirements.

14 16. If a Plaintiff worked on a project that required payment of prevailing 15 wage, what prevailing wage(s) applied? Plaintiffs contend that 16 Plaintiffs should have been paid the applicable prevailing wage for 17 their respective classifications at each respective prevailing wage 18 project.

19 17. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is 20 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman directs the 21 employee to return to work before the employee has received a 30-
22 minute meal period, did the employer violate California law governing 23 the provision of meal periods? Plaintiffs contend that if a supervisor or 24 foreman directed a non-exempt employee to return to work before the 25 employee had received a 30-minute meal period, the employer failed to 26 provide the employee a meal period in compliance with California law 27 and thereby violated California's meal period requirements.
28

- 1 18. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is
2 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman directs the 3 employee to return to work before the employee has received a 30-
4 minute meal period, does California law require the employer to pay 5 the employee's wages for the meal period? Plaintiffs contend that in 6 such case the employee did not receive a 30-minute uninterrupted meal
7 period as required under California law and, therefore, the employer 8 must pay the employee for the shortened time taken as a meal period.
- 9 19. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is 10 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman directs the 11 employee to return to work before the employee has received a 30-
12 minute meal period, does California law require the employer to pay 13 the employee a meal period premium equal to one hour of his pay?
14 Plaintiffs contend that in such case the employee did not receive a 30-15 minute uninterrupted meal period as required under California law and, 16 therefore, the employer must pay the employee a meal period 17 premium.
- 18 20. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is 19 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman conducts a 20 meeting to discuss work-related matters, does the employer thereby 21 violate California law governing the provision of meal periods by 22 failing to provide an uninterrupted meal period? Plaintiffs contend that 23 if a supervisor or foreman conducted a meeting during the meal period, 24 the employer failed to provide an uninterrupted meal period as 25 required under California law governing the provision of meal periods.
- 26 21. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is 27 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman conducts a 28

1 meeting to discuss work-related matters, does California law require 2 the employer to pay the employee's wages for the meal period?
3 Plaintiffs contend that if a supervisor or foreman conducted a meeting 4 during the meal period, the employer failed to provide an uninterrupted 5 meal period as required under California law governing the provision 6 of meal periods and, therefore, must pay the employee for the meal 7 period time.

8 22. If during an unpaid meal period to which a non-exempt employee is 9 entitled under California law a supervisor or foreman conducts a
10 meeting to discuss work-related matters, does California law require 11 the employer to pay the employee a meal period premium equal to one 12 hour of his pay? Plaintiffs contend that if a supervisor or foreman 13 conducted a meeting during the meal period, the employer failed to 14 provide an uninterrupted meal period as required under California law 15 governing the provision of meal periods and, therefore, must pay the 16 employee a meal period premium.

17 23. Did the foreman working at the worksites at which Plaintiffs worked 18 during their employment with Defendants qualify as a supervisor or 19 manager under the California Labor Code or IWC Wage Order No.
20 16? Plaintiffs contend that the foreman or supervisor at the worksite
21 qualified as a supervisor under the California Labor Code and/or IWC 22 Wage Order No. 16.

23 24. If a Defendant failed to accurately report (i) gross wages earned, (ii)
24 total hours worked, or (iii) all applicable hourly rates on any wage 25 statement issued to a Plaintiff, did such failure(s) violate Section 226 26 of the California Labor Code? Plaintiffs contend that any such 27 failure(s) violated Section 226 of the California Labor Code.
28

- 1           25. If a Defendant failed to accurately report (i) gross wages earned, (ii)
2           total hours worked, or (iii) all applicable hourly rates on any wage
3           statement issued to a Plaintiff and such failure prevented the Plaintiff 4           from determining whether the Defendant had paid him at the 5           appropriate rate or for all hours worked, did this constitute an injury 6           under California Labor Code section 226(e)? Plaintiffs contend that to 7           the extent any such failures prevented a Plaintiff from determining 8           whether the Defendant had paid him at the appropriate rate or for all 9           hours worked, this constituted an injury under California Labor Code 10          section 226(e).
- 11          26. If either Defendant failed to timely pay any Plaintiff all wages owed 12          him at the time the Plaintiff's termination or within 72 hours of 13          Plaintiff's resignation, did such failure qualify as willful under 14          California Labor Code section 203? Plaintiffs contend that 15          Defendants' failure to pay all wages owed at the time of their 16          respective terminations qualified as willful under California Labor 17          Code section 203.
- 18          27. If either Defendant failed to timely pay any Plaintiff all wages owed 19          him at the time the Plaintiff's termination or within 72 hours of 20          Plaintiff's resignation, and such failure qualified as willful under 21          California Labor Code section 203, is that Plaintiff entitled to waiting 22          time penalties under Section 203? Plaintiffs contend that Defendants 23          willfully failed to pay them all wages owed at the time of their 24          respective terminations and that such failure entitles Plaintiffs to 25          waiting time penalties.
- 26          28. If a plaintiff prevails on a claim for unpaid wages under the FLSA or 27          California law, can the plaintiff recover interest on the unpaid wages?
28

1 Plaintiffs contend that both the FLSA and California law provide for 2 recovery of interest on unpaid wages.

3 29. If a plaintiff prevails on a claim for unpaid meal period premiums or 4 waiting time penalties owed him under California law, can the plaintiff 5 recover interest on the unpaid premiums or penalties? Plaintiffs 6 contend that California law provides for recovery of interest on unpaid 7 meal period premiums and waiting time penalties.

8 30. If a plaintiff prevails on a claim for unpaid wages under the FLSA or 9 California law, can the plaintiff recover attorneys' fees and costs
10 incurred in recovering such wages? Plaintiffs contend that the FLSA 11 and California law provide for recovery of attorneys' fees and costs to 12 a plaintiff who prevails on a claim for unpaid wages.

13 31. If a plaintiff prevails on a claim for unpaid meal period premiums or 14 waiting time penalties under California law, can the plaintiff recover 15 attorneys' fees and costs incurred in recovering such premiums or 16 penalties? Plaintiffs contend that California law provided for recovery 17 of attorneys' fees and costs to a plaintiff who prevails on a claim for 18 unpaid meal period premiums or waiting time penalties.

19 32. If an employer requires an employee to report to the employer's 20 facility or office before travelling to the first worksite and the 21 employee thereafter drove his personal vehicle to the first worksite, 22 does California Labor Code section 2802 require the employer to 23 reimburse the employee for the cost incurred in driving to the first 24 worksite? Plaintiffs contend that in such circumstances where an 25 employer requires an employee to report to the employer's facility or 26 office before travelling to the first worksite and the employee 27 thereafter drove his personal vehicle to the first worksite, the cost 28

1 incurred in driving to the first worksite qualifies as a reimbursable
2 expense under California Labor Code section 2802.

3 33. If an employer requires an employee to drive his personal vehicle to 4 different work locations throughout the workday after the employee
5 arrives at the first work location, does California Labor Code section 6 2802 require the employer to reimburse the employee the cost incurred 7 in travelling to each different work location? Plaintiffs contend that in 8 such circumstances where an employer requires an employee to drive 9 his personal vehicle to different work locations throughout the 10 workday after the employee arrives at the first work location, the cost 11 incurred in driving to different work locations after arriving at the first 12 work location in a workday qualifies as a reimbursable expense under 13 California Labor Code section 2802.

14 34. If an employee incurs costs reimbursable under California Labor Code 15 section 2802, does an employer have an obligation to reimburse those 16 costs in the absence of a request for reimbursement by the employee?
17 Plaintiffs contend that California Labor Code section 2802 requires an 18 employer to reimburse costs reimbursable under 2802 in the absence of 19 a request for reimbursement by the employee

20 35. If a Defendant violated the FLSA or California Labor Code as alleged 21 in Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint, does such violation(s)
22 constitute an unfair business practice under California Business &
23 Professions Code section 17200? Plaintiffs contend that the violations
24 of the FLSA or California Labor Code alleged in their first amended 25 complaint constituted unfair business practices under California 26 Business & Professions Code section 17200.

27 36. In August 2007, was BSG subject to the leave requirements of the 28

1 FMLA? Plaintiff Gallo contends that in August 2007, BSG was 2 subject to the leave requirements of the FMLA.

3 37. In August 2007, was BSG subject to the leave requirements of the 4 CFRA? Plaintiff Gallo contends that in August 2007, BSG was 5 subject to the leave requirements of the CFRA.

6 38. In August 2007, was Erick Gallo eligible for FMLA or CFRA leave?
7 Plaintiff Gallo contends that in August 2007, he qualified for leave
8 under the FMLA and CFRA.

9 39. If BSG refused to grant Erick Gallo leave in August 2007 to spend 10 time with his newborn child, did such refusal violate the FMLA or 11 CFRA? Plaintiff Gallo contends that if BSG refused to grant him 12 leave in August 2007 to spend time with his newborn child, such 13 refusal violated the CFRA because BSG was a covered employer
14 under the CFRA, Gallo qualified for leave at the time of the request, 15 and he requested leave for a purpose covered under the CFRA.

16 40. If an employer denies an employee leave in violation of the FMLA or 17 CFRA, what damages may the employee recover? Plaintiff Gallo 18 contends that an employee denied leave in violation of the FMLA may 19 recover lost wages and benefits, compensatory damages, and 20 liquidated damages. Plaintiff Gallo contends an employee denied leave 21 in violation of the CFRA may recover lost wages and benefits, 22 compensatory damages, and punitive damages.

23 41. If a plaintiff prevails on a claim for denial of leave in violation of the 24 CFRA or in violation of the FMLA, can the plaintiff recover attorneys' 25 fees and costs? Plaintiff Gallo contends that a plaintiff who prevails 26 on an FMLA claim may recover attorneys' fees and costs, and a 27 plaintiff who prevails on a CFRA claim likewise may recover
28

1 attorneys' fees and costs.

2 42. Assuming Erick Gallo can prove he requested leave to spend time with 3 his newborn child, did BSG base its decision to terminate him in whole 4 or in part on his having made this request? Plaintiff Gallo contends 5 that BSG based its decision to terminate his employment in whole or in 6 part on his having requested leave to spend time with his newborn 7 child.

8 43. Does an employee's complaint about suspected violations of 9 California or federal wage and hour laws qualify as protected activity 10 for the purpose of stating a claim for wrongful termination in violation 11 of fundamental public policy under California law? Plaintiff Gallo and 12 Angel Miramontes contend that an employee's complaints about or 13 objections to pay practices that violated California or federal wage and 14 hour laws, or that the employee reasonably believes violated such 15 laws, qualify as protected activity for the purpose of stating a claim for 16 wrongful termination in violation of fundamental public policy under 17 California law.

18 44. If Erick Gallo complained to Defendant BSG about pay practices that 19 he believed violated California or federal law, did BSG base its 20 decision to terminate Gallo's employment in whole or in part on his 21 having complained? Plaintiff Gallo contends that BSG based their 22 decision to terminate his employment in whole or in part on his having 23 complained about and objected to pay practices that he reasonably 24 believed unlawful.

25 45. If Angel Miramontes complained to Defendant BSG about pay
26 practices that he believed violated California or federal law, did BSG 27 base its decision to terminate Miramontes' employment in whole or in 28

1 part on his having complained? Plaintiff Miramontes contends that 2 BSG based their decision to terminate his employment in whole or in 3 part on his having complained about and objected to pay practices that 4 he reasonably believed unlawful.

5 46. If an employee entitled to leave under the FMLA or CFRA requests 6 leave for a purpose covered under the FMLA or CFRA, does such 7 request qualify as protected activity for the purpose of stating a claim 8 for wrongful termination in violation of fundamental public policy
9 under California law? Plaintiff Gallo contends that where an employee 10 entitled to leave under the FMLA or CFRA requests leave for a 11 purpose covered under the FMLA or CFRA, the employee's request 12 qualifies as protected activity for the purpose of stating a claim for 13 wrongful termination in violation of fundamental public policy under 14 California law.

15 47. Are unpaid regular rate wages calculated by multiplying unpaid hours 16 by regular rate of pay applicable to specific job site (regular rate or 17 prevailing wage rate) for unpaid work performed within the first 8 18 hours in a work day, or the first 40 hours in a workweek? Plaintiffs 19 contend that unpaid regular rate wages are calculated by multiplying 20 unpaid hours by regular rate of pay applicable to specific job site 21 (regular rate or prevailing wage rate) for unpaid work performed 22 within the first 8 hours in a work day under California law, or the first 23 40 hours in a workweek under California and the FLSA.

24 48. Are unpaid overtime rate wages calculated by multiplying unpaid 25 hours by 1.5 times regular rate of pay for unpaid time worked beyond 26 8 hours in a work day, beyond 40 hours in a workweek, or the first 27 eight hours worked on the seventh consecutive work day in a

workweek (if the employee worked more than 30 hours during the workweek or more than 6 hours on any workday in the workweek)? Plaintiffs contend that unpaid overtime rate wages calculated by multiplying unpaid hours by 1.5 times regular rate of pay for unpaid time worked beyond 8 hours in a work day under California law, beyond 40 hours in a workweek under California law and the FLSA, or the first eight hours worked on the seventh consecutive work day in a workweek under California law.

49. Under California law, are unpaid overtime rate wages calculated by multiplying unpaid hours by 2 times regular rate of pay for time worked beyond 12 hours in a work day or time worked beyond 8 hours on the seventh consecutive workday in a workweek? Plaintiffs contend that unpaid overtime rate wages are calculated under California law by multiplying unpaid hours by 2 times regular rate of pay for time worked beyond 12 hours in a work day or time worked beyond 8 hours on the seventh consecutive workday in a workweek.

50. If an employee earns more than one hourly rate during a workweek, and he works overtime, does the weighted average method of calculating base pay rate for purposes of overtime calculation apply? Plaintiffs contend that when an employee earns more than one hourly rate during a workweek, and he works overtime, the weighted average method of calculating base pay rate for purposes of overtime calculation applies.

51. How is overtime calculated when an employee works at more than one rate of pay (i.e.: regular rate of pay and prevailing wage)? Plaintiffs contend that the weighted average for overtime is calculated as follows:

- a.  $[(\text{hours worked in workweek} \times \text{regular rate of pay}) + (\text{hours worked in workweek} \times \text{prevailing wage rate/other wage rate})] \div \text{total hours worked in workweek} = \text{adjusted base rate of pay}$
- b.  $\text{Adjusted base rate of pay} \div 2 = \text{adjusted overtime rate of pay}$
- c.  $\text{Regular rate of pay} + \text{adjusted overtime rate of pay} = \text{weighted average overtime rate of pay}$
- d.  $[(\text{regular (non-overtime) hours worked in workweek} \times \text{regular rate of pay}) + (\text{regular (non-overtime) hours worked in workweek} \times \text{prevailing wage rate/other wage rate})] + \text{overtime hours} \times \text{weighted average overtime rate of pay} = \text{earned wages for workweek?}$

52. If an employee earning more than one rate during a workweek works overtime and works overtime on a prevailing wage project, does he earn overtime at the prevailing wage rate for such time or does a weighted average apply? Plaintiffs contend that when an employee earning more than one rate during a workweek works overtime on a prevailing wage project, he earns the greater of either the weighted average overtime rate or 1.5 times the prevailing wage rate for such time.

53. If a Defendant failed to pay a Plaintiff for travel time within the Imperial Valley and California or federal law required payment for such time, how are unpaid wages calculated? Plaintiffs contend that unpaid wages would be calculated by multiplying unpaid time spent traveling for work-related purposes, excluding travel time from home to first work destination and from last work destination to home, by the current applicable rate of pay.

- 1           54. If a Defendant failed to pay a Plaintiff for time spent travelling to 2           worksites outside the Imperial Valley and California or federal law 3           required payment for such time, how are unpaid wages calculated?
4           Plaintiffs contend that such unpaid wages would be calculated by 5           multiplying unpaid time spent traveling for work-related purposes by 6           the current applicable rate of pay, subject to the following:
- 7               a. If a Plaintiff did not report to the El Centro facility before 8               travelling to the worksite, the total compensable travel time for 9               the trip(s) includes the time spent travelling to the first worksite, 10              less the Plaintiff's normal commute time (and for all other travel 11              thereafter throughout the workday for work-related purposes).
  - 12              b. If a Plaintiff first reported to the El Centro facility before 13              travelling to the worksite and did so at the direction of the 14              Defendant or where necessary to retrieve workers, tools or 15              materials, the total travel time for the trip includes the time spent 16              traveling from the El Centro for work-related purposes (from the 17              El Centro facility to the worksite(s) (and for all other travel 18              thereafter throughout the workday for work-related purposes).
  - 19              c. If a Plaintiff did not return to the El Centro facility at the end 20              of the workday, the total compensable travel time for the return 21              trip includes the time spent travelling from the last worksite at 22              which the Plaintiff worked to his home, less the Plaintiff's 23              normal commute time.
  - 24              d. If a Plaintiff returned to the El Centro facility at the end of the 25              day at the direction of the Defendant or where necessary to return 26              workers, tools or materials, the total compensable time for the 27              return trip includes the time traveled from the worksite at which 28

1 the Plaintiff last worked to the El Centro facility.

2 55. If an employer fails to pay an employee reporting time pay where 3 required under California law, how is such reporting time calculated?
4 Plaintiffs contend that unpaid reporting time wages are calculated 5 under California law by multiplying each work day in which an 6 employee was required to and did report to work but was not provided 7 work by 4 hours at the employee's regular wage rate in effect at the 8 time of such reporting.

9 56. Under California law how must an employer calculate the vacation 10 wages owed an employee at the time of termination or resignation, if 11 any? Plaintiffs contend that under California law, an employer 12 calculates vacation wages owed to an employee at the time of 13 termination subtracting from the amount of vacation the employee 14 accrued pursuant to the employer's policy – and such accrual must 15 comply with California law - the amount of vacation taken and 16 multiplying the balance of unpaid vacation hours/ days by the greater 17 of either the rate the employee earned at the time of accrual or at the 18 time of termination.

19 57. If California Labor Code section 2802 required a Defendant to 20 reimburse a Plaintiff for costs incurred in driving his vehicle within the 21 Imperial Valley for work-related purposes and the Defendant failed to 22 do so, how is the amount of reimbursement owed calculated?
23 Plaintiffs contend that for driving within the Imperial Valley, the 24 amount owed for mileage reimbursement is calculated by multiplying 25 mileage travelled for work-related purposes in the Plaintiff's personal 26 vehicle by the current applicable federal mileage reimbursement rate.
27 Plaintiffs do not include travel to the first worksite except where 28

1 Defendants required a Plaintiff to first travel to the El Centro facility
2 before travelling to the worksite. Plaintiffs also do not include travel
3 from the final work location except where Defendants required a 4 Plaintiff on a particular workday to travel from the final worksite to the 5 El Centro facility.

6 58. If California Labor Code section 2802 required a Defendant to 7 reimburse a Plaintiff for costs incurred in driving his vehicle outside of 8 the Imperial Valley for work-related purposes and the Defendant failed 9 to do so, how is the amount of reimbursement owed calculated?
10 Plaintiffs contend that mileage reimbursement costs for such travel are 11 calculated as follows:

12 a. When a Plaintiff did not first report to the El Centro facility 13 before travelling to the worksite outside of the Imperial Valley, 14 the Defendant must reimburse the Plaintiff the mileage driven to 15 the worksite, less the Plaintiff's normal commute mileage, plus 16 all mileage driven throughout the day for work-related purposes.

17 b. When a Plaintiff did not return to the El Centro facility at the 18 end of the workday, the Defendant must reimburse the Plaintiff
19 for the actual mileage driven on the return trip less the Plaintiff's 20 normal commute mileage.

21 c. When at the direction of a Defendant or where necessary to 22 retrieve workers, tools or materials a Plaintiff first reported to the 23 El Centro facility before travelling to the worksite outside of the 24 Imperial Valley, the total miles for which the Defendant must 25 reimburse the Plaintiff include the actual mileage from the El 26 Centro facility to the worksite located outside of the Imperial 27 Valley plus any additional miles driven during the workday for 28

1 work-related purposes.

2 d. When at the direction of a Defendant or where necessary to 3 return workers, tools or materials the Plaintiff returns to the El 4 Centro facility at the end of the workday, the Defendant must 5 reimburse the Plaintiff the total miles travelled from the last 6 worksite at which the Plaintiff worked to the El Centro facility.

- 7 59. How are meal period premiums calculated under California law?
8 Plaintiffs contend that meal period premiums are calculated by 9 awarding an amount equal to one hour of the Plaintiff's pay on the date 10 on which he did not receive an uninterrupted meal period as required 11 under California law.
- 12 60. How are penalties calculated for failure to issue accurate itemized 13 wage statements pursuant to California Labor Code section 226?
14 Plaintiffs contend that penalties for failure to issue accurate itemized 15 wage statements are calculated by totaling $50 for an initial violation 16 plus $100 for each subsequent violation, up to a maximum total of 17 $4000.
- 18 61. How are liquidated damages for failure to pay minimum wage under 19 Labor Code section 1194.2 calculated? Plaintiffs contend that under 20 California law, liquidated damages for failure to pay minimum wage 21 are calculated as the total amount of unpaid minimum wages (under 22 California law, any time worked on any work day that was not paid 23 qualifies as unpaid minimum wages) owed plus interest thereon.
- 24 62. How are liquidated damages for failure to pay overtime wages, 25 pursuant to the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. section 216(b), calculated? Plaintiffs 26 contend that under the FLSA, liquidated damages for failure to pay 27 overtime wages are calculated as the total amount of unpaid wages for 28

1 weekly overtime, plus interest thereon.

2 63. If Plaintiff Gallo recovers liquidated damages for a violation of the 3 Family Medical Leave Act, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. section 4 2617(a)(1)(A)(iii), how are such liquidated damages calculated?
5 Plaintiff Gallo contends that liquidated damages under the Family 6 Medical Leave Act are calculated as the amount of actual damages and 7 interest thereon.

8 64. If California law provides for recovery of interest by a plaintiff who 9 prevails on a claim for unpaid wages, meal period premiums, waiting 10 time or other penalties, or unpaid expenses, what rate of interest 11 applies? Plaintiffs contend that under California law interest accrues at 12 the annual rate of 10% on all amounts the plaintiff recovers.

13 Defendants dispute Plaintiffs' Issues of Law and submit the following, 14 additional issues of law that remain in dispute in this litigation.

15 Defendants' Issues of Law, all of which are disputed by Plaintiffs:

16 65. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' First Amended Complaint fails to 17 state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

18 66. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred by the applicable 19 statutes of limitations.

20 67. Defendants contend that they acted reasonably and in good faith at all 21 times material herein, based on all relevant facts and circumstances 22 known by them at the time they so acted.

23 68. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs suffered no tangible loss of 24 employment benefits as a direct and proximate result of the alleged 25 conduct by Defendants.

26 69. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred by the doctrine of 27 estoppel.

1           70. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred by the doctrine of 2           laches.

3           71. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred by the doctrine of 4           waiver.

5           72. Defendants contend that they did not violate any provision of the 6           Labor Code or any order of the Industrial Welfare Commission 7           willfully or knowingly.

8           73. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred because the 9           conduct of Defendants as alleged in the First Amended Complaint was 10          not "unlawful" as defined under the California Business & Professions
11          Code.

12          74. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred because the 13          conduct of Defendants as alleged in the First Amended Complaint is 14          not "unfair" as defined under the California Business & Professions
15          Code.

16          75. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred by the doctrine of 17          unclean hands.

18          76. Defendants contend that punitive or exemplary damages violate the 19          rights of Defendants to procedural due process under the Fourteenth 20          Amendment to the United States Constitution and under the 21          Constitution of the State of California.

22          77. Defendants contend that punitive or exemplary damages violate the 23          rights of Defendants to protection from "excessive fines" as provided 24          in the Eighth Amendment of the United States Constitution and in 25          Article I, Section 17 of the Constitution of the State of California.

26          78. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs have failed to state a cause of action 27          upon which punitive or exemplary damages may be awarded.
28

1           79. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred because 2           Defendants' actions are privileged under the doctrine of managerial 3           immunity.

4           80. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs have failed to take reasonable steps 5           and to exercise due diligence in an effort to minimize or mitigate the 6           alleged damages, if any.

7           81. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs' claims are barred because the 8           conduct of Defendants as alleged in the Complaint is not "fraudulent" 9           as defined under the California Business & Professions Code.

10          82. Defendants contend that their conduct, or the conduct of their agents, 11          which is alleged to be unlawful, occurred as a result of 12          misrepresentations by Plaintiffs.

13          83. Defendants contend that if Plaintiffs suffered any loss, damage or 14          detriment as a result of the facts alleged in the Complaint, which 15          Defendants deny, such loss, damage or detriment is limited or barred 16          by the existence of evidence acquired after Plaintiffs' terminations that 17          bars or limits the remedial relief to which Plaintiffs may have been 18          entitled in the absence of such after-acquired evidence.

19          84. Defendants contend that California law requires that Defendants 20          provide Plaintiffs a 30-minute meal period in an eight hour workday; 21          Defendants are not required to ensure Plaintiffs take their meal periods.

22          85. Defendants contend that they appropriately paid Plaintiffs for all 23          prevailing wages work pursuant to applicable law and the terms of the 24          contracts.

25          86. Defendants contend that Plaintiffs are precluded from raising any 26          issues pertaining to their employment with Defendants in any position 27          other than field installers because they failed to assert any such 28

allegations in their First Amended Complaint.

87. Defendants contend that testimony by Jonathan Atun regarding damages calculations he made in connection with this litigation is inadmissible because Plaintiffs never designated Mr. Atun as an expert witness and because such testimony would be improper lay opinion.
